INTRODUCTION AND OBJECTIVE OF THE FDP

To utilize the abundant resource in the form of youth of our country, it is imperative to spread awareness about vocational training and entrepreneurship as a tool of development. Keeping in tune with the tough present times, entrepreneurship should be taught as a way of life, rather than as a specialized course in singular institutions. It is to this purpose that the current Faculty Development Programme will focus on promoting teachers from any educational institution as facilitators and mentors to guide and motivate the youth to be innovators. This inter-disciplinary structured training programme will be targeted at teachers to act as resource persons to impart skills relating to self-sufficiency, leadership and risk management to their students. After going through the FDP, the participants will be able to initiate the practice of mentorship skills and competencies in higher education. Participants will learn to use blended teaching approach effectively and use it to develop teaching and practice material for students.
